1. William Shakespeare

- a great writer who cannot be forgotten.

Have you ever read masterpieces written by William Shakespeare? Have you ever wondered what is the proper meaning of the phrase “to be or not to be”? In my article I am going to present one of the most famous and well-know British playwright and poet William Shakespeare.

Shakespeare was born in Stratford-upon-Avon in 16th century in middle 60s. His writing career he started with creating comedies and histories. Among them it can be found: “A Midsummer Night’s Dream”, “The Taming of the Shrew” and “As You Like It”. Then he chose rather tragedies to present his great talent. The most popular include: “Romeo and Juliet”, “Macbeth” and “Othello”. We cannot forget about “Hamlet” and the most famous quote from the play “To be, or not to be” what can be understood as a question is it better to live or die.

When you think about William Shakespeare you cannot mention about his London theatre “The Globe”. This theatre was created by Shakespeare and his playing company in 1599. Today this place is still popular and it is called the Shakespeare's Globe. It is not only the renowned theatre in the style from Shakespeare times but also an education centre and cultural landmark of the city. What is more if you decide to visit this place, you will find it on the bank of the River Thames.

To conclude I can recommend to read and watch Shakespeare’s plays. Time flies surprisingly quickly but some content remains the same. So do not waste your time and start reading Shakespeare.

3. Oxford

Oxford is the City of Dreaming Spires, famous all over the world for its university and place in history. For over 800 years, it has been a home to royalty and scholars, and since the 9th century an established town, although people are known to have lived in the area for thousands of years. Currently, Oxford is a very international city because of the students. It's also a home to a fast-growing hi-tech community. Many companies are located in and around the town.

Oxford has a lot of major tourist attractions. Among others:

The iconic Bodleian Library – The Bodleian Library was officially opened in 1602. It was founded by Sir Thomas Bodley. Since 1602 the Bodleian Libraries has grown to be the largest academic library systems in the UK. In its reading rooms generations of many famous people have studied for a very long time including Nobel Prize winners, British Prime Ministers and writers like Oscar Wilde J.R.R Tolkien and C.S Lewis.

Carfax Tower – The Carfax tower is all that remains of the 13th century St Martin's Church which was the official city church of Oxford from 1122.

The tower is 74 feet tall. It is possible to go to the top of the tower to enjoy an amazing view over the Oxford skyline.

Covered Market- It's centered in the middle of the city. It was built in the 1770's. The market's always been an attraction for visiting tourists. It provides a unique showcase of the best local food and drinks.

University of Oxford- University of Oxford is one of the best and most prestigious universities in the world. It's the oldest English-speaking university in the world! It grew really fast from 1167 when Henry II banned English students from attending the University of Paris. There are more than 25 000 students at Oxford, including 12 000 undergraduates and 13 000 postgraduates.

4. Our destination - Greece

This year, in September, we went to Katerini, Greece as part of the school internship. That was an international school internship founded by European Union meant for chosen students from our primary school. We went there together with other pupils from our school in order to improve our English language skills. The visit programme was very busy: we attended the classes in local school all week, we learned about Greek culture, mythology and language. It was really interesting and it was a great experience for all of us. It is always good to understand how other people live and what are their interests. It was also so much fun to be there with my friends, travel around and visit some touristic places.

I am very happy I was part of this initiative.
